STATEMENT

A highly professional and creative website developer with practical experience in website design and development, underpinned by a relevant Honours degree. A passion for standards and usability, combined with a flair for unique but relevant design, ensures delivery that is high value for the end-client. A specific interest in user interface design has led to a high level of expertise in the creation of a beautiful yet usable front-end.

Establishing and running my own Limited Company business, with the support of the Princes Trust, has provided a range of experiences and challenges which have helped shape a commercial context to all work
